Agenda Item Introduction

Council Meeting Date: October 20, 2020

Name: David Larson

Agenda Item: Development Approval Process Discussion

Background: The City Code Update Committee was reviewing the authority of each decision-making body involved in the development approval process (e.g. City Council, Planning Commission, Staff) and feel this is a foundational element of the City's land use code. Before proceeding further, the Committee would like some feedback/direction from the full City Council on this topic.

The City Council must ultimately accept the public improvements made during the development process and is the only body that has the authority to approve/accept a development on behalf of the City. However, other land use decisions may be delegated if the Council so chooses.

Each land use action includes a land use authority and appeal authority, often with a recommendation given to the land use authority by a recommending body (though not always). In most cases, the Planning Commission acts as the recommending body, the City Council as the land use authority, and an unbiased attorney with expertise in land use as the appeal authority.

Generally, the Committee would like the Council to provide direction on how much land use authority the Council would like to delegate to Planning Commission and Staff. Specific questions the Committee would like direction on from the full Council include the following:

- Does the Council want to give final approval for both residential & commercial proposals?
- Does the Council want to give preliminary approval for both residential & commercial proposals (currently only Planning Commission gives preliminary approval)?

- Which body should approve elements of a proposal such as zoning code elements, architectural elements, etc and at what stage of the process (i.e. preliminary or final, etc)?
- Should the Council or Planning Commission approve residential Conditional Use Permits?
- Should the Council or Planning Commission approve commercial Conditional Use Permits?
